Residential on 0 Acres

N/A, Hudson, NY

In the heart of Hudson sits this turnkey, early Victorian. Reminiscent of a southern residence with its sweeping, Savannah-style front porch, the c1890 home is classically beautiful and of generous proportions. The interior is a delightful surprise, opened up to create one large space made up of the living room, dining and kitchen. The kitchen is brand new and anchors the rear of the space with a large island, handsome new cabinetry and french doors leading outside. A laundry room and bath complete the first floor. Upstairs, a gracious landing serves as a media room, play room or office, and three large bedrooms flank the sides in each direction. The ensuite master is lightfilled and large, and two additional guest rooms share the other full bath. The open, light filled home has wonderfully lofty ceilings and is still in happy possession of numerous period features, including its original wide floorboards and curved plaster stairwell. New plumbing, electric, and HVAC in 2015. A wonderfully private garden in the rear is just coming into its very best months, and you'll find both an off-street parking space and a single story garage that can be expanded into a studio or apartment. In the heart of Hudson, this historic home is just blocks from Amtrak, Warren Street and 2h to NYC.

Built in 1890
